Col. Crabill May Be At Western Until June 5th

It was released from the military department last night that Colonel Gordon R. Catts, PMS&T, had filed a request with the Fifth Corps Area Commander that Colonel E. B. Crabill, former PMS&T, remain on duty here for the remainder of this semester.

Representatives of the military department stated that no action had been taken as yet but that he would probably remain. They stated that if he did remain he would serve in the capacity of assistant to Colonel Catts, the present PMS&T. Colonel Crabill, who has served as PMS&T on the Hill for the past four years, was relieved of the duties of Professor of Military Science and Tactics three weeks ago.

The R. O. T. C. unit has received the highest possible rating at the three inspections held during Colonel Crabill's stay at Western.

When Colonel Crabill leaves he expects to be called to active duty with the troops.

New PMS&T Takes Over Duties Of Colonel Crabill

Colonel Gordon R. Catts, left, new professor of Military Science and Tactics at Western is shown with Colonel E. B. Crabill who has served as PMS&T for the past four years. Colonel Catts came to Western three weeks ago when the War Department called Colonel Crabill for active duty with the troops. Although there has been no official announcement it is thought that the War Department might grant Colonel Catts' request that Colonel Crabill be kept on assignment at Western for the remainder of the present semester. Such action would prove highly popular with the host of friends which Colonel Crabill has made since coming to College Heights.

Vincent's 'Jack Suite' Recorded

On the evening following the spring concert of the college orchestra, which was held Sunday afternoon, April 26, in Van Meter Auditorium, recordings of Professor Vincent's "The Jack Suite" were made and forwarded to him at Cornell University.

This was done because Mr. Vincent was unable to attend the concert.

The Chicago Civic orchestra spent two rehearsals on this number a week before the concert was given.

The spring concert opened with Symphony No. 1 in C Major, by Beethoven. This is one of the standard symphonic compositions. This was followed by "The Jack Suite." The last number on the program was Capriccio Espagnol by Rimsky-Korsakof.

This program had three distinct types of music: the restrained classic beauty of the early Nineteenth Century as exemplified in Beethoven's symphony, the nationalistic Russian by Rimsky-Korsakof and the modern American which was typified by Mr. Vincent's numbers.

President Paul L. Garrett began the program by dedicating it to the senior class and commending them on the brilliant work which they have put forth in order to obtain the honor of graduating.

The devotional was conducted by Mr. Horace McMurtry of the education department, after which the congregation sang the school hymn, "The Red and Grey," let by Mrs. Neil Gooch Travelstead of the music department.

Following the introduction of officers, the string ensemble rendered a special number. The ensemble was a quartet composed of Janice Rhea, Jean Baxter, Lloyd Fritz, and Roger McGee.

This morning at 10:00 o'clock at Van Meter hall, Dr. James P. Cornette, a member of the English department, was scheduled to deliver the principal address of the initial program commemorating Western's twentieth anniversary of Mothers Day.

The special Mothers Day chapel was to open with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," followed by an invocation by William Orr. Mr. W. M. Pearce, head of the extension department, was scheduled to give the welcome address to the mothers, and Mrs. Edgar Arbogast was to give the answering response.

The Creation of Mothers Day by an Act of Congress was to be given by George H. Riggs. A trio composed of Emily Ogden, Martha Jones, and Conaway McMullen, accompanied by Jeanette Smith were to sing "Little Mother of Mine" and "The Springtime of the Year."

Announcement

Administrative officials announced last night that the classes regularly scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning will meet at 9 a.m. in order that everyone may attend the Mothers Day chapel program at 10 a.m. in Van Meter auditorium.

Dr. Cornette was scheduled to give his address honoring Western's mothers. His talk was to be followed by the sons and daughters introducing their mothers.

The Congress Debating Club, which has not missed a year giving a token to the mothers, was to present defense stamps to the mothers who have sons in the armed forces of the United States.

In addition four bouquets were to be given: one to the youngest mother who has a son or daughter

Campus Reflects Personality Of Misses Woods, Ragland

For the past four weeks Western's campus has been gloriously enchanted by spring. A muted symphony of fairy colors has been quietly blending with the green of the earth and the blue of the sky. Under the spell of some gracious Aladdin, a genie has appeared and showered upon us his gayest scheme of dyes.

The Aladdins of our campus are Miss Elizabeth Woods and Miss Florence Ragland, retired members of Western's faculty, and through many years friends, not only to each other, but also to the entire school. One of Western's faculty members paid to them a fitting tribute indeed when she said, "This campus is a monument to their work."

I came upon Miss Woods in the Kentucky gardens, carefully pruning the flowering crab trees beside the old antebellum garden, which she herself designed.

Drew Sketch From Memory

"I drew the sketch," her kind blue eyes lighted as she recalled it—"from one I had seen, and it was laid out by students in the geometry classes."

Miss Woods has probably seen many such gardens, as she is a product of the gracious culture of the Old South and has traveled much in various European countries. She studied in France, where she resided for many years and absorbed the sophistication and art of the Old World, in the days before the present tragedy.

Many Donations

As I talked to her, she continued to relate in her calm, dignified manner the difficulties met while implanting natural beauty on a barren hillside. In the beginning there were no funds with which to make purchases; consequently, many students gave trees and donated their time and labor to planting and caring for them.

All irises in the Kentucky gardens were originally given by the late

Carl Herdman of this city. All ferns and many wild flowers have been translated from Allen and neighboring counties. Among these one notices the creeping buttercup, also a donation of former students. These dainty golden blossoms border the bank of a small stream meandering musically from a spring near the antebellum flower beds to a lily pool at the lower end of the gardens. This spring was uncovered by workmen as they dug the foundation of the Kentucky Building.

Switches To Trees

Scattered here and there, trees of flowering crab, dogwood, and redbud burst into bloom. All willow trees in the gardens came from two switches which Miss Woods brought from Allen County about ten years ago. Miss Woods has also planted and kept growing the delphinium and the London Pride which she brought from England. The peonies and the vase just back of the Kentucky Building are from the garden of the late Mrs. Clarence McElroy of this city. The vase was originally the base of the first fountain in the city park.

Rustic Scenes

One of the most rustic scenes of all is the rock garden, wayside bower, and pool on the north side of the Kentucky Building. Until Miss Florence Ragland applied her skill to this retreat it was a barren hillside ribbed with red clay gullies. Miss Ragland, also schooled in the aristocratic culture of the Old South, lives in her home on State street, surrounded by well-cultivated wild flowers. Confined to her home for the past year by ill health she has lost no enthusiasm for her hobby. "I have always been just devoted to the country and I have always wanted to live there." She vibrated with eager joy as she mentioned it.

Well, you with the cement head—yes, you! You with the funny eyes, you with that stringy hair with which you fret every one to death by trying to do something to help it. (It's common knowledge that the guillotine will give positive results.) You with those ears—the ones that would look better if they were upside down and on the opposite sides of your stunted skull. You with the Gable complex. You with the idea that Boyer is overlooking some swell technique by not watching your trite actions. You with the single thought that you are Weismuller, Power, Cagney, and Superman, all done up nicely in a little package just waiting to break some poor gal's heart. You with the thought that Hayworth, Carroll, Lamour, Marshall, and Shirley Temple, should see you in order to know what they have been missing. You with the thought that history, economics, geography, Latin, mathematics, and those other courses of your curriculum can't be handled right until you take the books apart and reassemble them. Yes, I know.

So you think this is a sermon? It isn't, because it has already been delivered. Nor is it a plea, because the case has been tried and the verdict published a long time ago. It's just a reminder that you were called upon not so long ago, and I regret to say that you were found wanting.

When did this happen? Not very long ago. Remember when the Flag went by? You were standing there with your hat on. You were leaning up against that car smoking a cigarette. You were sitting on the steps of that house talking to your date. You screamed with laughter (remember how empty it seemed all of a sudden). You kept on talking to your friends. Yes, I know. You're the one at the dances, and the house, and around the hang-out, who is always ready to weep over 'Remember Pearl Harbor,' or scream 'Goodbye Momma, I'm off to Yokohama'.

Well, why don't you get wise to yourself? How much of an education does it take for you to see in those red stripes the blood of Wake Island, of Guam, of Bataan, of Pearl Harbor, of Corregidor—the blood of your friends and your kinsmen? How much of an education do you have to have to see in the blue of the field the loyalty of those Americans—our people—who went to their death and their capture with their faces toward the enemy? The blue in that field is a little lighter than the nights over Bataan when our people laid down for a little rest, if possible, to think of our land where you carry on your silly prattle when the Flag is going by. The white stars—your hope and their hope. Their hope to live because they are your age. How disrespectful you were to those things they died for because they hoped. How little you are asked to do when the Flag is going by—and how small, how cheap, how disloyal you are when you don't do it. How could you have been left in ignorance of the meaning of that Flag to you? How could your education have taught you other than respect for its meaning?

So you've been around? Well, let's see it the next time when the Flag is going by. Take those few seconds to spend solemnly and stand uncovered silently when the last symbol of Democracy—your STARS AND STRIPES—goes by. At its sight, let the fullness in your heart prove that you are big—ready for the task, rather than little—ready to crowd a mouse from its nest.

Ladies and gentlemen, our Flag.

blossom of the celadine poppy, the purple of wild geranium, monk's hood, phlox, and trillium, the small green bells of Solomon's seal, blue-bells, the white of trillium, dogwood, and bloodroot, all blooming in gay profusion. These are native Kentucky flowers and have been planted by Miss Ragland herself.

Visitors to the Western campus say that they have seen nothing like it. It is indeed worthy of praise, this great monument to two great women.

Battalion Parade Is Wednesday's Chapel Program

President Paul L. Garrett has announced that chapel will be held on the R. O. T. C. drill field Wednesday May 13, instead of in Van Meter auditorium. The Western R. O. T. C. unit will present its battalion parade as the program for the morning.

This chapel program will be of special significance to the R. O. T. C. unit as the federal inspector, Colonel A. R. C. Sander, University of Kentucky, will review the battalion.

Each year it has been the policy to hold chapel on the R. O. T. C. drill field with the battalion parading as the program. The appearance of the unit for this occasion has much to do with determining the ranking which Western's military department will receive.

President Garrett expressed a desire that every Western student be on hand for this colorful military event.

Hilltopper Players Get Chance To Return Hospitality

Dick Isaacs, left, of New York City, visitor here for the past week, says that the Western campus is the most beautiful he has ever seen and that covers a lot of territory because as manager of the Long Island University basketball team for three years, Dick had occasion to visit campuses all over the nation.

With Isaacs in the above picture are Tip Downing, center, and Ray Blevins, who were snapped as they conducted the New Yorker on a personal tour of College Heights.

Isaacs who is to enter the U. S. Naval Air Corps in June was employed by Ned Irish as an assistant at Madison Square Garden during the past season. When the Hilltoppers arrived in New York for the National tournament in March, Irish assigned Isaacs the task of "looking after the Kentucky boys." A warm friendship developed between the Western organization and the young L. I. U. graduate with the result pictured above.

So far Dee Gibson has successfully held the No. 1 post. Sam Tinsley moved into the number two position Tuesday afternoon after he defeated Charley Smith.

The Hilltoppers diamond team played a practice game with the Bowling Green Barons of the Kitty League last week before the Barons' season opened and the Toppers won 5 to 3. . . Last Saturday the Western team defeated Tennessee Tech 6 to 4 under the pitching of Reeny Hoebeke. Western had one man on third and Hoebeke stepped up to the plate for his chance with the bat when Coach Diddle signaled for a bunt Hoebeke bunted, but to the surprise of Coach Diddle, fans and Hoebeke not only did the man on third score, but Renny beat it out to second.

The Hilltoppers now have the books balanced at three wins to three losses.

For the Western hurlers, Shelton has won one game against two losses beating University of Louisville 10-4 and losing to University of Louisville and Fort Knox 4-3 and 5-2. Hoebeke has two victories against one defeat with wins over DePauw University and Tennessee Tech. Vanderbilt handed him his lone setback.

Kitchen Team dipped the Pershing Rifles in a runaway by 25-8 while the Snow Birds made a single marker to beat the Cherry Country Life 1-0. The Kitchen Team won its second encounter by a 9 point margin over the Arts and Crafts 16 to 7.

The 13 games yet to be played are as follows: Pershing Rifles vs. Snow Birds, May 5; Black Phantoms vs. Cherry Country Life, May 6; Pershing Rifles vs. Black Phantoms, May 7; Arts and Crafts vs. Cherry Country Life, May 8; Kitchen Team vs. Snow Birds, May 9; Arts and Crafts vs. Pershing Rifles, May 9; Snow Birds vs. Black Phantoms, May 9; Kitchen Team vs. Cherry Country Life, May 9; Snow Birds vs. Arts and Crafts, May 11; Pershing Rifles vs. Cherry Country Life, May 12, and Kitchen Team vs. Black Phantoms, May 12.

12 Candidates Are Initiated Into P. R.

The formal initiation of twelve successful candidates into Company B, Third Regiment, Pershing Rifles, was held last Friday evening in the ROTC drill hall.

Candidates for membership were chosen because of their proficiency in drill, desire to uphold the high standards of the military profession, and attaining a scholastic standing of "C" or better.

Those who were formally initiated in the organization were: Cadets Paul Crowder, Jack Corman, Bob Downer, Rolla Dyer, James Huff, Edgar Minyard, Porter Napier, James Shrewsbury, G. E. Strickler, Hobson Sinclair, and Tom Uhl.

John Warren, also a candidate for membership, was unable to attend the initiation and will be taken into the company at a later date.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Boyd and son Joseph Jr., of Long Island, New York, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Canon recently.

'Topper Tracksters Prepare For K.I.A.C. Meet Monday

Coach Wm. L. Terry has been putting the finishing touches on his 'Topper tracksters, who will represent Western in the annual K. I. A. C. track meet Monday at Berea.

With one of the smallest squads in recent history, Terry expects to enter one or more men in every event except the pole vault. He stated that probably only about nine boys would make the trip.

Entering the high and low hurdles runs, will be John Stoll, Harold Swaney, and Bob Wilson. Stoll and Wilson will also be entered in the broad jump, and Swaney will participate in the javelin throw.

According to recent measurements and work-outs, big Lou Cullen shouldn't have much difficulty in the shot put events. He will also toss the discus and run the 100-yard dash. Teaming up with Cullen in the 100 will be another freshman speedster, John Mazola. Mazola will also run the 220 and attempt the broad jump.

Western's lone representative in the high jump, will be Bob Yuhas, another freshman from New Jersey. Paul Garrett, Jr., veteran 'Topper, will run without a mate in both the mile and half-mile runs.

A pair of football stars, Siler Steele and Ray Mills, are slated for the 440-yard hike.

Coach Terry and his small squad will probably leave early Sunday en route to the Mountaineers' campus. The host school for many years has ruled as the favorites, and this year should not be an exception.

The last Players Guild offering for the 1941-42 season was presented at the Hostess House recently by Daisy Pearce Stirn.

Mrs. Stirn enacted the play, "The Manufacturer," impersonating all three characters.

YOU WANT to fight for your country! Are you willing to work for it? To toughen yourself physically? To train yourself mentally for a real job in the United States Navy? And your college will help you do it! In cooperation with the Navy, it offers all freshmen and sophomores who are seventeen and not yet twenty, special training that may win for you the coveted Wings of Gold of a Naval Aviation Officer or a commission as a Deck or Engineering Officer.

How to Become an Officer

To get this special Navy training, you enlist now as an Apprentice Seaman. Then you continue in college, but you will include special courses stressing physical development, mathematics and physics. After you successfully complete 1½ calendar years of college, you will be given a general examination prepared by the Navy.

Stay in College 2 Years

If you qualify by examination, you may volunteer to become a Naval Aviation Officer. In this case you will be permitted to finish the second calendar year of college work before you start your training to become a flying officer.

Or you will be selected for training to become a Deck or Engineering Officer. In that case, you will continue your college program until you receive your bachelor's degree, provided you maintain the established university standards.

Those whose grades are not high enough to qualify them for officers' training will be permitted to finish their second calendar year before they are ordered to duty at a Naval Training Station as Apprentice Seamen.

At any time during this special college training program, if a student should fail in his prescribed subjects, he may be ordered to active duty as an Apprentice Seaman.

Pay starts with active duty.

All courses will be given and graded by your regular college faculty. The Navy asks that you devote your time and energy along certain channels that will equip you to serve your country to the very best of your ability.

It's a real challenge! It's a real opportunity! Make every minute count by doing something about this new Navy Plan today.

called upon to help in building and maintaining morale on the part of the general public. A library of materials furnished by a central committee is to be sent to Western in the near future. The college is to serve as a clearing house for the work in the zone of Western Kentucky.

Schools, clubs or individuals desiring aid in promoting civilian morale programs are invited to take advantage of the materials which will be provided at Western.

In the skies over America the mightiest air fleet in the history of the world is mobilizing for victory!

So fast is it growing that there is a place here—an urgent need here—for every college man in America who can qualify for Officer's Training.

The U. S. Army Air Forces need Flying Officers and Ground Crew Officers. And many of them must come from the ranks of today's college students—men who make their plans now for the necessary Aviation Cadet training.

Thanks to a newly created Air Force Reserve plan, men of all classes—aged 18 to 26, inclusive—can enlist for immediate service or continue the scholastic work required for graduation before being called to active duty.

You must meet the requirements for physical fitness, of course. In addition, you take a new simplified test to determine your ability to grasp the training. A college man should pass it easily.

$75 A MONTH DURING TRAINING

Those accepted who wish immediate duty will go into training as rapidly as facilities permit. As an Aviation Cadet, you are paid $75 a month, with subsistence, quarters, medical care, uniforms, equipment.

In 8 months you can win an officer's commission as a bombardier, navigator or pilot—and be well started on your way to serve America and advance yourself in aviation.

Three Enlistment Plans for College Men

Juniors—Sophomores—Freshmen May Continue Their Education

1. A new plan allows Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen, aged 18 to 26, inclusive, to enlist in the Air Force Enlisted Reserve and continue their schooling, provided they maintain satisfactory scholastic standings.

All College Men May Enlist for Immediate Service

2. All college students may enlist as privates in the Army Air Forces (unassigned) and serve there until their turns come for Aviation Cadet training.

3. All college students may enlist in the Air Force Enlisted Reserve and wait until ordered to report for Aviation Cadet training.

Upon graduation or withdrawal from college, men will be assigned to active duty at a training center as facilities become available.

If the necessity of war demands, the deferred status in the Army Reserve may be terminated at any time by the Secretary of War.

The new Army Air Force Enlisted Reserve Plan is part of an over-all Army Enlisted Reserve Corps program shortly to be announced. This program will provide opportunities for college men to enlist in other branches of the Army on a deferred basis and to continue their education through graduation if a satisfactory standard of work is maintained. In case of necessity the Secretary of War shall determine when they may be called to active duty.

It is understood that men so enlisted will have the opportunity of competing for vacancies in officer's candidate schools.

This plan has been approved in the belief that continuance of education will develop capacities for leadership. (Reserve enlistment will not alter regulations regarding established R.O.T.C. plans.)

MANY BRANCHES OF SERVICE

There are also commissions awarded in ground crew service. College men particularly will be interested in the requirements for Armaments, Communications, Engineering, Meteorology, Photography. If you have engineering experience your chances of getting a commission are excellent.

As a Second Lieutenant on active duty with the Army Air Forces, your pay ranges from $183 to $245 a month.
